1. Policy Statement

Modern slavery is a crime and a violation of fundamental human rights. It can take many forms, including forced labour, slavery, servitude and human trafficking. This crime can manifest itself in many ways, but what each of its forms will have in common is the exploitation of a person for another person or another person's (or organisation's) benefit. The Modern Slavery Act 2015 ("MSA") consolidates antislavery and human trafficking offences into one piece of legislation.

Festival 2022 Ltd has a zero-tolerance approach to modern slavery and is committed to implementing and enforcing effective systems and controls to ensure modern slavery is not taking place anywhere in its own business or in its supply chains.

This policy applies to all persons working for Festival 2022 Ltd or on its behalf in any capacity, including employees at all levels, directors, officers, agency workers, contractors, secondees, suppliers, consultants and business partners. This policy does not form part of any employee's contract of employment and Festival 2022 Ltd may amend it at any time.

2. Responsibility for the policy

Festival 2022 Ltd's Board has overall responsibility for ensuring this policy complies with its legal and ethical obligations and that all those under its control comply with it. The Head of Procurement has primary and day-to-day responsibility for implementing this policy, monitoring its use and effectiveness, dealing with any queries about it and auditing internal control systems and procedures to ensure they are effective in countering modern slavery. The relevant managers in each Department are responsible for ensuring those reporting to them understand and comply with this policy. The Company works closely with colleagues in the Organising committee (OC) Procurement Team on all issues of Procurement. That close working will ensure that this policy is implemented thoroughly throughout all applicable steps in the Procurement process. This policy is available for staff on SharePoint.

3. Compliance with the Policy

All persons working for Festival 2022 Ltd must ensure that they read, understand and comply with this policy.

Festival 2022 Ltd is a contracting authority defined by and regulated by the Public Contracts Regulations 2015. In order to support its zero-tolerance approach to modern slavery, Festival 2022 Ltd has incorporated into its standard procurement documents specific contractual provisions relating to modern slavery and, through the OC's Procurement Team, has implemented a number of systems with its contracting and supply chain:

- a) Before procurement takes place, the Festival 2022 Ltd team working with the Procurement Team as appropriate, use a series of key characteristics (such as sourcing geography, industry type, nature of work and supply chain model) to identify whether the contract is at high or medium risk of modern slavery occurring and, based on the anticipated level of risk associated with the relevant characteristics, will seek to ensure that subsequent procurement and contract management activity are proportionate
- b) All of Festival 2022 Ltd's tenders over £175k include the standard Selection Questionnaire (SQ) which includes a mandatory exclusion question regarding compliance with the Modern Slavery Act 2015.
- c) Festival 2022 Ltd may also require proposed suppliers to:
 - (i) provide:
 - (A) evidence of the recruitment methods used for staff delivering the contract;
 - (B) details of workforce conditions in factories used to produce goods to be delivered under the contract, including wages, working hours and rest breaks; and
 - (C) evidence of the processes which they have in place to identify and address modern slavery risks in their supply chains; and
 - (ii) complete a specified Modern Slavery Assessment Tool ("MSAT")
- d) In its supply contracts and standard terms of business Festival 2022 Ltd have included express terms requiring its counterparties to comply with all applicable laws relating to anti-slavery and human trafficking, with a requirement for them to include similar requirements in their own contracts and subcontracts and to notify Festival 2022 Ltd if they become aware of any slavery or human trafficking in their own supply chains
- e) Festival 2022 Ltd will require all current suppliers to make positive written affirmations that:
 - (i) they do not; and
 - (ii) their direct supply chain does not endorse, enable or facilitate human trafficking or slavery within their business, and Festival 2022 Ltd has built this requirement into its supplier processes
- f) Festival 2022 Ltd will undertake close contract management of higher risk agreements and may itself, or through the use of specialist third-party auditors, carry out internal and/or external audits, site-visits or spot-checks of all suppliers and members of each supplier's direct supply chain to verify the supplier's own assessment of its compliance with applicable laws relating to anti-slavery and human trafficking. Festival 2022 Ltd may also require existing suppliers to complete the MSAT.
- g) Failure by a supplier to comply with the processes described above will lead to an investigation and may result in Festival 2022 Ltd taking such action as it considers necessary to prioritise the safety and security of actual or potential victims of slavery; this may ultimately result in the supplier's contract being terminated.

The prevention, detection and reporting of modern slavery in any part of its business or supply chains is the responsibility of all those working for Festival 2022 Ltd or under its control. All persons working for Festival 2022 Ltd are required to complete annual training on modern slavery and avoid any activity that might lead to or suggest a breach of this policy.

You must notify the Head of Procurement as soon as possible if you believe or suspect that a conflict with this policy has occurred or may occur in the future and you must treat all associated information sensitively and appropriately. You must not disseminate the relevant information further

All persons working for Festival 2022 Ltd are encouraged to raise concerns about any issue or suspicion of modern slavery in any parts of the Company's business or supply chains of any supplier tier at the earliest possible stage. If you are unsure about whether a particular act, the treatment of workers more generally, or their working conditions within any tier of Festival 2022 Ltd's supply chains constitutes any of the various forms of modern slavery, this should be raised with the Head of Procurement.

Festival 2022 Ltd aims to encourage openness and will support anyone who raises genuine concerns in good faith under this policy, even if they turn out to be mistaken. Festival 2022 Ltd are committed to ensuring that no one suffers any detrimental treatment as a result of reporting in good faith their suspicion that modern slavery of whatever form is or may be taking place in any part of its business or in any of its supply chains. Detrimental treatment includes dismissal, disciplinary action, threats or other unfavourable treatment connected with raising a concern. If you believe that you have suffered any such treatment, you should inform the Head of Procurement immediately. If the matter is not remedied, and you are an employee, you should raise it formally using Festival 2022 Ltd's Grievance and Complaints Resolution Policy and Procedure.

4. Communication and awareness of the Policy

Festival 2022 Ltd's commitment to addressing the issue of modern slavery in its business and supply chains shall be communicated to all its employees, agency workers, contractors, secondees, suppliers, consultants and business partners at the outset of the business relationship with them and reinforced as appropriate thereafter.

5. Breaches of the Policy

Festival 2022 Ltd will prioritise the safety and security of the victims of slavery, particularly children and will aim to implement remedial measures which work for them and improve their situation. Any employee who breaches this policy will face disciplinary action, which could result in dismissal for misconduct or gross misconduct. With regard to other individuals and organisations working on its behalf who breach this policy, Festival 2022 Ltd will review all actions available to it in light of achieving the best outcome for victims. Such actions may include suspension, the sharing of past performance information with other public sector contracting authorities and, where it does not provide a perverse outcome for victims, termination of its relationship with the relevant individual and/or organisation.

6. Monitoring

The Chief Legal Officer, the OC's Head of Procurement and Festival 2022 Ltd's Head of Business Integration will monitor the implementation of this policy and any subsequent revisions, this will include:

- b) overseeing implementation of the relevant training for all persons working for Festival 2022 Ltd
- c) monitoring Festival 2022 Ltd's compliance with the relevant legislation.
